Each educational institution must list, in a statement of salary, the pecuniary value of the contributions paid into a pension fund or supplementary benefits plan that is applicable to the senior administrative personnel member concerned.

The educational institution must, in addition to listing in the statement of salary the pecuniary value of any severance pay granted during the year, include the pecuniary value of any other benefit provided for in a contract or by a by-law of the educational institution, and also the value of any severance pay or benefit to be paid to the senior administrative personnel member at a later date.
